Semisweet Stories

LIFE, FANTASTIC. nming in rs," osling ht I'd give it a shot.") Is Ken is basically another ssory. "Barbie has a great ay," we are told in voiced by Helen Mirren. "Ken reat day if Barbie looks ttel introduced the first 961, in response to letters
Barbie get a boyfriend.
invented first," Gerwig Ken was invented after nish Barbie's position in in the world. That kind th is the opposite of the in Genesis."
ie was given big boobs les, Ken was given a
," as Mattel referred to Together, their peculiar

Shelley

001

Shelley is a charming and polite woman. Anyone can get along with her. On her senior prom, "Cheree" by Suicide played upon her arrival. Everyone knew she made great entrances. Everyone is a fan of Shelley, except for Isabelle, Melanie's friend. One day, Melanie introduced Shelley to her friendship circle, which only consisted of Isabelle. Isabelle grew jealous of Shelley without cause.

It could be because Shelley is a socialite, she easily looks like Margot Robbie, or Isabelle just has standards. Giving Shelley the nicknames, "Shellfish" and "Shellac," Isabelle wanted to know her favorite horror book and film. Shelley said "Uzumaki," she said "Goodnight Moon." Why did Isabelle say that? She thought the old woman played the ouija board while the kid slept.

Shelley said "The Shining," Isabelle said "A Miracle on 34th Street." Why "34th Street?" Apparently, two people find a cane inside a house. Meaning that it's haunted. Isabelle clearly had been reading conspiracy theory articles of films and books. And it's to the point where Melanie had to put parental controls on her laptop. Isabelle stormed off Tutty's, a restaurant the trio were in, angry and bitter.

"Don't let that trainwreck get to you, Shelley," Melanie explained to her. Isabelle gives off behavioral germophobe, and Shelley did have a right to be concerned about that kind of absurdist nonsense. A week after that unfortunate meeting, Shelley and Melanie were having lunch at Sullivan's, a gourmet restaurant. They were chatting peacefully when Isabelle arrived.

Isabelle came with Foodie Beauty to impress Melanie and Shelley. She promised Chantal Marie to sing in order to give her her precious weed. "Oh no, you'll take away! You'll never take away! You'd never take away MY LIBERTY!" That was the song. And, Chantal tripped after trying to reach for the teensy-weensy bag of marijuana in Isabelle's hand. "Is she in?" Isabelle asked. Melanie snatched the bag and said, "Come on, Chantal, go get it!" Foodie Beauty crawled out, looking for the weed. Not only was that an embarrassing moment for Isabelle, but it was also a disruptive moment for Shelley and her charming presence.

IG: @thisiscristobal